If you have a new idea for our Wiki, but are unsure how to incorporate it or whether it would be useful, place it on this page. There is no need to be specific, since others will be able to contribute their own additions to the brainstorm.

Here is an example of an idea and conceivable reponses:

1. I was thinking about adding a brainstorm page. Would anyone find this useful?

[Each item on the following list has a strike-through.]

- That would be great. Where should it go?
- Maybe in the main page.
- Don't forget to edit the number of main pages; it is loaded at four right now.

Formatting, [Link to] Edit

1. I'm thinking that we should discuss formatting … font type, sizes, color, etc. As well as the structure of each page → headers, content, etc. Thoughts? This is definitely a good use of the brainstorming page. As Professor Richards noted, it will be much easier to make formatting edits once the wiki is close to completion. We also need to come to some sort of consensus on what sorts of fonts and colors we want to use.

2. Helpful tip: if you come across inconsistent formatting, try going to the "Source" tab and deleting the extra html code around a text. But be sure to make it consistent with the html coding (if any) around the other text.

3. When I put pictures in, I formatted them all to 190 pixels. This would definitely keep them at the same size (width at least) if everyone uses this for any photos they add, at least that top picture box.
