by Molly E. Ubbesen

The law has 3 primary goals:

- Expand the Medicaid program to cover all adults with income below 138% of the federal poverty level. (Not all states have expanded their Medicaid programs.)
- Support innovative medical care delivery methods designed to lower the costs of health care generally.

- Women qualify for emergency Medicaid when it comes to delivering a baby.
- Visit local community health centers (there may possibly be a waiting list because of selective care & can be considered expensive)
- Local community centers are federally funded and may provide free tests

Subheading (right column): Healthaffairs.org

"The foreign-Born are dramatically less likely than the native-born population have health insurance, through either a private health plan or a public program."

Pie chart of showing that 30% of Foreign Born US Residence are Undocumented Immigrants and 70% are Documented Immigrants. Caption reads: "The graph pictured above shows that there is a 30 percent of foreign-born residents that are undocumented immigrants."

Second Section: Two columns that mix image and text.

Left column: An image with caption/description: Image above shows medical tools lined up along with additional supplies and medications with a clipboard in the center as heads appear to write on it.
