

Transcript 1: Fred

Keystone is a really good place there just have to be a little bit of improvements to it and stuff like the sidewalk right here could be like that one on that side over there. We got like that repaired and stuff. We got all these old buildings like this one over here. ... but now it's just different. Like this building right here it could be made into something else but people just don't seem to worry about it, they got their own lives to live with anyway. We have our welcome to Keystone sign that shows all the old buildings, these building could be improved and these could be made into different resources or different kinds of business, maybe even the same business as it were before they became like this but now they're just well they looked like they're wrecked up and stuff and nobody wants to help improve it or nothing though. We have stuff like the little hardware shop over here, a few trucks that doesn't look like they're used right now over there, and this right here used to be somewhat of like a diner but now it's just messed up and everything, but long story short, it had meaning to it, but now it just looks like junk. Besides back there behind city hall this could be like a place where people get active or something but they just don't want to. That's what we could have back there in that big field or something, but instead we'll just keep it like it is right now and see if anybody will do something about it.